

Christopher Arkbrant

Partner

Christopher Arkbrant is a partner working in Mannheimer Swartling's practice group Funds and Investments. Christopher has many years' experience representing clients in connection with structuring and establishing funds as well as drafting, reviewing and negotiating fund agreements, both in a Swedish and in an international context.

In addition to his experience with respect to the establishment of funds, Christopher Arkbrant has also considerable M&A-experience from representing different private equity funds in connection with their investments in underlying portfolio companies, which has given him a thorough understanding for the environment in which the funds actually operate and how that may affect the terms of the fund agreements.
